COMMERCE MUST MOVE, ANNOUNCES ATTORNEY GENERAL

SHOP UNIONS HER IGNORE ULTIMATUM

Remain Away from Jobs After Limit Set by Roads for Return.

Striking shopmen of the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Chicago & Northwestern railways at Janesville ignored the ultimatums the roads and remained away from their jobs, Monday, the 10th day of the walkout. Monday was the time limit set by the roads for the men to return to work without losing their seniority and pension rights.

One Hundred and forty-three men are on strike here. Two men have been sent back to the Northwestern. The strike was said by officials. One day work was done and the other nights. One man has almost due to be placed on the pension list. When he reported he was placed on sick leave.

Trains are Delayed.

As the strike takes place, draw out as much time continue to run minutes to a half hour late, and some instances greater delay, and have been felt. Five engines are in the stalls at the Northwestern round house while the St. Paul has three in the house and the Great Northern in the house and the track in the rolling stock in this vicinity occurred Sunday night. A freight train on the St. Paul was wrecked near Delavan due to a broken truck on an freight car and 11 cars were ditched.

About Dons Overalls.

A. L. Hemmings, local agent of the Northwestern, donned overalls Monday with John Dover, pensioner Northwestern conductor. They worked around the cars.

The men will continue to hold daily mass meetings and picket railroad property. They state emphatically they will win their demands against the cut in pay.

Officials See Dark Side.

A. W. Bower, division freight passenger agent, and H. B. Leung Jr., traveling agent both of the Northwestern, were stationed at Madison, were in Jarvis Saturday looking over the local strike situation. They checked the lists of pensioned employees living here to encourage them to work and induce to work.

Both officials were pessimistic over the outlook. They had expected the men to give in Saturday morning. They did not look for men to return Monday.

The situation in Madison is practically the same as in Janesville, the officials declared. They reported 80 men out of 1,000 back at work at Fond du Lac.

Weight is added to the report, story states, by the continued connection with New York owners of H. Grabiner, business manager of White Sox.

FEAR OF GERMANY AS SECOND RUSSIA STARTLES EUROPE

COLLAPSE FEARED

Affects U. S. Intimately: Concerted Action to Prevent Crash Imperative.

Washington.—Germany is the chief nervous of the world. Drifting along from one crisis to another with her political and economic structure steadily weakening there arises again the specter of another Russia.

And if Germany should go the way of Russia the effect on France and Great Britain would be an infinitely greater shock than Europe
as a whole could stand. This is the apprehensive state of mind
in Washington.

3,000 miles away in physical distance from an economic point of view the United States is so intimately connected with Europe that the collapse of the latter would be a catastrophe which touches foreign trade and the principal are confidently counted on to help ease America's tax burden but while there is no official relationship between Germany and the United States this country's economy is all too obvious to officials here to ignore.

In Germany's bankruptcy if Germany should collapse, the allies would promptly seek a postponement of payments of their war debt.
They would contend that the money they had expected to receive from Germany didn't materialize and interfere with the payment of their war debt. The treasury department expects to fund the war debt. Interests in principal are confidently counted on to help ease America's tax burden but while there is no official relationship between Germany and the United States this country's economy is all too obvious to officials
here to ignore.

Germany in absolute bankruptcy. It is admitted here, would change the whole face of things in Europe.

will tend to hold the Virth cabinet or a cabinet of similar principles to support the Versailles treaty.

Not From U. S.
What can be done? The initiative on European politics will never be taken here. Kints and informal suggestions may emanate from Washington, but the administration of President Harding believes that leadership in matters such as these should come from some European nation. Great Britain, which has as much to lose as any power in Europe through a German catastrophe, is looked to for the first move. Prime Minister Lloyd George struggled vainly at Cannes to bring about a world economic conference which would help Germany to her feet. The French balked and overthrew the Briand ministry. The Genoa conference was prohibited from even discussing reparations or a modification of the Versailles treaty.

French Attitude
The situation is still the same as it was when the Cannes conference adjourned—the French are opposed to concessions. Events alone may change their viewpoint. The question is whether the reign of assassinations and the circumstances which in recent weeks have made Germany's government totter will make the French change their attitude. The danger of another conference may be tried by Lloyd George with the request that the United States and other signataries to the reparations clause of the Versailles treaty shall attend. America could not very well refuse. The next step lies, however, with Britain.

models were so delightful and conservative that it was difficult to pick the prize winner. There was nothing to hint of immorality, explained Miss Gogin.

COFFEE WITH MEALS, PIPES AT ALL TIMES, FAVORED BY DAWES

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago.—Brig. Gen. Charles G.
Dawes, first director of the United States budget, connoisseur of pipe, bank president and exponent of plain talk, heartily approves of President Harding's coffee policy.

"They serve coffee with the meals at the white house," he said, as he sat on the veranda of his Evanston home. Initiating a new pipe. "You know so many places in Washington insist on serving the coffee after the meal, but the president wants it with the meal, and that's the way I like it, too."

"Gen. Dawes, who returned to private life as a banker Saturday, was the case in Russia and an era of bohemian terror sets in. France will steel herself against any conception of standing army to protect her large frontier against the overflow of communism across her boundaries.

851 PUPILS HERE GET STATE AWARDS

Washington School Has Best Record in Library Circle Contest.

One of the best means to inspire school children to read, and one that is now being carried on successfully by awarding children at the end of the year, a diploma or seal for reading a certain number of books.
This work is being carried out by the state reading circle, to which each school-child in the state may belong. The report of the record made by children here, was recently sent to the state offices from the office of Sup't. F. O. Holt.

It shows that the average number of books read by school children is 2 and one-seventeenth per child. A total of 8,735 books were read by 4293 children. These figures are not accurate, however, as the enrollment figure for those of June 1, and the books reported read are only those reported on, and are only those on the state reading circle list. School children read many other books, in and out of school, on which they do not report.

State Get Diplomas
A total of 681 diplomas were awarded diplomas of some sort for reading. When a child reads and reports on five of the books on the state list, whether he had the books at home and read them, or at school, he is eligible for a diploma.
Five or more books read and reported on award him a seal, and still five more read, and he received a special honor seal.

A total of 171 children were awarded the handsome diplomas issued through the local superintendents. Seals were given to 165 children, and 12 with the special honor seals for 15 books. Eleven teachers entered the contest and won diplomas for reading.

Washington in Lead
Washington school was highest of all with a total of 233 children and teachers awarded medals. Twenty-two were given diplomas, 122 seals and 111 special honor seals. Three teachers won diplomas.

With 234, the Douglas school came next. They were divided as follows:
Diplomas, 56; seals 173; honor seals, 13. The Jefferson school had 191—56 diplomas, 65 seals, 69 honor seals and 2 teachers' seals.

The Garfield school made a record as follows: diplomas 21; seals 129; honor seals 37; and teachers, 6. The Webster school had 32—19 diplomas and 13 seals.

Increase Is Seen
Although figures for the preceding year are unavailable, it is felt that the number has increased considerably. It was stated at the library that the circulation of children's books continued to grow all year.
The movement was started a number of years ago and has grown in favor each year. The plan is simple and appeals to all children, who like to have a diploma or a seal at the end of the year to show for the work they have voluntarily done.
The reading carries no school credit.

scattered points and others were feared as the situation grew more tense.

The 10th day of the strike was marked by the apparent determination to stand by their position taken at the outset and indications pointed to a feverish deadlock in the strike.

Railroads generally prepared to open their shops with what labor was available, accepting returned strikers and filling vacant jobs, as far as possible, with imported workers.

State troops patrolled the Illinois Central yards and shops at Clinton, Ill., while at Bloomington, city and county officials, admitting the collapse of civil authority and expecting further trouble in the Chicago and Alton shops, awaited action by Lieut. Gov. Sterling on their appeal for troops.

National guards were mobilizing in Missouri, Kansas, California and Indiana, while the Michigan state police were ordered to prepare for strike duty.

Trains Are Cut Down.
Several deputies were sent to St. Louis, Mo., where strikers for several days have been in control of the shops and town.

Officials of the Missouri Pacific announced the annulment of 30 passenger trains on the company's eastern division, adding that trains on other divisions would probably discontinue at the same time.

Governor Taylor of Tennessee received appeals to send troops to Memphis to protect property and employees of the Prince lines.

Disorders spread to the east when the homes of two Baltimore and Ohio employees, who refused to join the strike, were bombed at New Castle, Pa. A striker was shot at New Castle.

In most places where appeals for troops were made, the strikers said all possible efforts would be made to preserve order and they discounted the call for troops.

Special Police Assigned.
State police were assigned to railroad shops and yards duty in Chicago, Denver, New York and other cities throughout the country.

In New York, strikers explained their position in an open letter to commuters on the Erie, placing responsibility on the U. S. rail labor boycott.

Shots were fired again at Clinton, Ill., Sunday night, when several bullets were sent in the direction of

Jeff County Man Takes Egg Honors

Wisconsin hens are laying more eggs than they did last year. At least that is the case on the 153 poultry demonstrations scattered in all parts of the state.

According to J. B. Hayes, one of the poultrymen at the college of agriculture, over 15,000 hens were enrolled during the month of May in the egg laying contest. Each hen laid an average of 19.35 eggs in May as compared to an average of 18.88 eggs for the same month last year. An increase of 2.4 eggs, cackles the proud record-breakers.

But look at this accomplishment! The 15 highest layers deposited an average of 24.25 eggs in May. Farm flocks competing for high egg honors in May averaged 100 birds each.

To E. L. Henning of Jefferson county, and his flock of Single Comb White Leghorns, go the highest honors for production during May. The high average of 24.69 eggs per hen brought an undisputed title in the class of record flocks larger than 100 birds.

White Leghorns grabbed the first 10 places in the "big flock" class. Second place went to Mrs. John C. Simon for being the owner of birds that produced an average of 24.39 eggs each. Mrs. Simon is from Langlade county.

Another Langlade county poultryman came in third. The flock of E. Friebe-Koch laid an average of 24.23 eggs each.

Frank J. Fred, Jefferson county, won fourth honors. His birds laid 23.21 eggs each.

Fifth honors were awarded to the flock owned by Gust H. Weber of Dodge county. An average of 22.94 eggs were laid by his hens.

In the second division, including farm flocks ranging in size from 55 to 100 birds, Mrs. Michael Simon, Langlade county, and his flock of Anconas won the blue ribbon for a production record of 24.39 eggs each.

The red ribbon was awarded to E. Friebe-Koch, Langlade county, and owner of the third prize flock in the first division. His second division Anconas won the blue ribbon for a production record of 24.39 eggs each for an average.

Single Comb Brown Leghorns owned by Math. C. Aulemans of Brown county came in third for laying 23.93 eggs each.

A mixed flock of Single Comb White Leghorns and Anconas owned by Mrs. John Endres, Marathon county, produced an average of 22.61 eggs thereby meriting the fourth position.

Special Farm Prize for So. Wis. Kiddies

Boys and girls from eight southern Wisconsin counties will have the opportunity of competing for $100 of prize money in the lamb raising contest to be staged at the Dane county fair, August 21 to 25.

According to an announcement made by Dr. P. Zank of the College of Agriculture, competition for the special prizes will be open to all boys and girls in Dane and adjoining counties. This list includes Sauk, Columbia, Dodge, Jefferson, Rock, Green, and Iowa counties.

To stimulate boys and girls in the raising of good sheep, one of the banks of Madison has contributed $100 in special prizes for a lamb raising contest. Seven prizes are offered for the best pen of three grade lambs sired by a purebred lamb and raised and exhibited by a boy or girl under 16 years of age.

The prizes offered are: first prize $25.00, second prize $20.00, third prize $15.00, fourth prize $10.00, fifth prize $10.00, sixth prize $7.00, seventh prize $5.00.

Should more than seven pens worthy of prize money be exhibited the Dane County Fair association will give additional prizes of $5.00 each.

County Agent Worth $12,000 to Grant Co.

Laurens—How much is a county agent worth?

Perhaps Grant county has the answer. In the annual report of the county board, the county agent's worth is estimated at benefitting the county nearly $12,000 in a very direct way. And there are many other indirect benefits upon which a money value cannot be placed.

Poultry demonstrations in culling out the non-laying hens were estimated as worth $2,300 to the farmers who attended the demonstrations.

An intensive spraying campaign was waged in the county and as a result six thousand trees were sprayed. The benefit is estimated at at least one dollar a tree, or a total of $6,000.

Seventy Grant county boys and girls were enlisted in club work and it is estimated that each one profited at least $15. The total benefits from club work were estimated at $1,125.

In a jinning campaign the sale of 100 turms were tested and the estimated benefits were $10

Poultry Breeders Combat Pea Moths

Sturgeon Bay — The pea moth has Wisconsin on its July itinerary. But Door and Kewaunee county pea growers are better prepared than ever before to combat this pest.

Such is the situation as seen by C. L. Fiske of the department of entomology at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, who is helping farmers of this section in their campaign against the pea moth.

The Badger entomologist has made extensive investigations for the past three seasons of the life history and means of combating the pea moth. Fiske described the life history of this insect for the first time last year. Actual evidence of its existence has been uncovered for a period extending back 15 years. The earliest reports of infestations were made 30 years ago. The pea moth was reported in Canada in 1895.

An early season and the planting of more early maturing peas is a factor aiding in keeping pea moth damage down in this section, according to Fiske. Some of the recommendations made by the insect specialist as a result of his studies here are: (1) Never plant twice in adjacent rows of the same field; (2) select best early maturing varieties of peas; (3) plant as early as possible; (4) bury the larvae by deep fall plowing; (5) burn straw after thrashing; and (6) thresh peas immediately after harvesting.

"The pea moth winters as a cocoon in the upper inch of soil," says Fiske in describing the life history. "It comes out as a moth in the spring and lays eggs on the pea pods. The larvae then hatch and bore their way through the pods into the peas."

5 BUILDINGS NEAR CITY DESTROYED BY FIRE AND WIND

The top of one barn was stored. It went quickly. Three barns and chicken and two houses were destroyed. The loss is estimated at $10,000, covered by approximately $2,000 insurance.

Minor damage from throughout the county was reported. The good done to crops far outdid the damage. Lightning rods saved the home of Edward Hammill, at Afton from destruction Sunday night. Lightning struck the house, was carried through the roof to the basement, shattered the electric light meter and tore a big hole in the wall where it went into the ground.

Some damage was caused to the standing grain by the heavy wind and rain Sunday and Monday morning. Fields were swept down and in places lay flat on the ground. Most of the grain was ready for harvesting.

Around Milton and in Porter township the damage was especially noticeable, patches across wide being done.

Wire Service Clipped. The wind storm was the cause of constant trouble to the Janesville Electric company, Wisconsin Telephone company and Janesville Telephone company whose services were interrupted on several occasions. The service of the Janesville Electric company at between 40 and 60 miles an hour.

The Milton line of the electric company was still out of service Sunday morning. The switchboard at Milton was burnt out when lightning went through it. At Orfordville the trouble was expected for a few minutes. Throughout the city here 13 transformers supplying from 30 to 60 customers each, were knocked out, with limbs of trees being the principal cause. Service in the vicinity of Millard avenue was out for an hour at noon when a large limb broke the service at Glen and Fifth avenue.

Traction Cable Down. The large cable carrying the power for the Janesville Electric company on South Franklin street was brought down when a tree at the corner of Franklin and Pleasant streets was blown down. The cable snapped out several lines of the electric company.

Telephone service was greatly affected by the wind and rain and much trouble was yet to be repaired at noon Monday. Many lines on the outskirts of Janesville were out of order and long distance service was weak.

The great dust clouds raised through the heavy traffic which caused the Janesville highway to be closed with the heavy rain. The rain was absorbed by the ground as though it were a sponge.

A bolt of lightning during the storm Sunday afternoon struck the barn on the farm owned by Charles Johnson, east of Janesville. Johnson was milking at the time. The bolt knocked down Johnson and four cows, stunning them and severely wounding one. No serious injury was caused to either Mr. Johnson or the animals. The barn did not catch fire.

Although local police have notified every city in the surrounding community of the disappearance of Victor Kautson, 15-year old farmer boy, missing since last Wednesday, no trace of him has yet been found. The boy is unusually large for his years and could undoubtedly do a man's work with them.

OFFICER TEACHES GOTHAMITES HOW TO FOIL ROBBERS

The large cable carrying the power for the Janesville Electric company on South Franklin street was brought down when a tree at the corner of Franklin and Pleasant streets was blown down. The cable snapped out several lines of the electric company.

Telephone service was greatly affected by the wind and rain and much trouble was yet to be repaired at noon Monday. Many lines on the outskirts of Janesville were out of order and long distance service was weak.

The great dust clouds raised through the heavy traffic which caused the Janesville highway to be closed with the heavy rain. The rain was absorbed by the ground as though it were a sponge.

A bolt of lightning during the storm Sunday afternoon struck the barn on the farm owned by Charles Johnson, east of Janesville. Johnson was milking at the time. The bolt knocked down Johnson and four cows, stunning them and severely wounding one. No serious injury was caused to either Mr. Johnson or the animals. The barn did not catch fire.

FORECAST OF FALL STYLES IN GOWNS

AFTON COMMUNITY CHURCH ASSURED

No Denominational Lines to be Fixed, Citizens Decide.

Establishment of the Afton community church, drawing no denominational lines, the first of its kind in the section of Wisconsin, is assured as the result of a meeting at Afton, Saturday night. The property of the old Baptist church abandoned seven or eight years ago is to be secured at a nominal sum, and the repair work is to be done by T. J. Blackford, Janesville, for $700.

Rev. R. C. Pierson, Janesville, spoke at the meeting and outlined the plan of the community church, which has had no church since the Baptist church closed up and the new enterprise is being backed by the whole community. Otto Telling was elected secretary in place of Walter Chapin.

Snyder Will Propose Ban on Spring Fishing

The meeting of all state wardens, deputies, and representatives of various red and gun clubs, to be held at Madison Tuesday and Wednesday, is expected to have marked results in the improvement of the condition of fish and game in the state. Charles B. Snyder, Janesville, game warden, will attend the two-day session as a representative of the county.

It is hoped to make these meetings annual affairs in the various states. Mr. Snyder will bring up the matter of closing of spring fishing.

"All the work done by the commission in filling the river with fish is counteracted by the spring fishing," he stated. "Each female fish and picker that is caught in the spring control takes away that would result in thousands of fish later in the season. If we can get a closed season in the spring, we will have many more fish later in the year."

It will also try to have some action taken in clearing the river of carp, which are now a nuisance. The meetings are to be held in the assembly chamber at the capitol.

There were 33 parcels left New York May 2 on the Resolute, 16 on May 3 on the St. Paul; and 52 by the ship George Washington, leaving New York May 6. These had all been mailed between April 29 and May 1.

THE GERMAN FINANCIAL CRISIS.

It may perhaps have been largely because it is generally recognized that some day there must be a settlement in Germany for the enormously inflated paper circulation, that we have taken the recent slump in the value of the mark so seriously in all trade and commercial centers. It was relieved somewhat when we were told naively that the difficulty was chiefly one of a strike among the printers who made the money and no new issues could be furnished. It was not known until Saturday that the German government after denying the possibility of ever raising the July 15th payment of reparations, had collected the 50,000,000 gold marks and had them in the bank waiting for the day of settlement.

There must be an explosion some time—a day when the bubble will burst in Germany. It is fast getting to the same condition, insofar as a currency is concerned, as is Russia. Germany failed to get a loan from other countries on account of the impossible conditions imposed by both lender and borrower. Russia has also failed to secure the nearly two billion dollars asked, for the reason that the soviet offers no national security. But the countries are occupying two widely different positions. In Russia industry has been destroyed while in Germany industry is at fever heat of production. The casual observer must feel that the descent in value of the mark will be more a German internal question than an international one. And in the face of the slump to know that the German government has raised the large reparations fund leads one again to believe that much of the poverty plea put forth at Cannes and again at Genoa, lacks basic sincerity.
 Any nation that piles up an irredeemable currency must some day face either bankruptcy or repudiation. The latter horn of the dilemma has been most frequently grasped. Business in Germany by foreign nations is conducted on a basis of gold. The paper mark first affects local industry, wages, cost of living, property values, revenue for the government—all internal affairs but it also has a distinct relation to foreign credits and the German export trade in costs of production. It is not believed that Germany is anywhere near bankruptcy. What she needs is a sound financial system. It took the United States many years to reach this position. We have passed through the same troubles in a lesser degree.
 In the past we have had a state banking currency, depreciated even in general interstate commerce, worthless in foreign countries and half the time of questionable value at home or when across the state border subject to Shylock discounts.
 We have had cheap greenbacks, Black Fridays and fierce speculation in money. But we arrived finally at a sound basis, established a currency which made a paper dollar acceptable at its face in all parts of the world, never repudiated a cent of our national promises to pay, and there we stand today.

Back of the government were the resources of the nation and so must there be in Germany.
 What the foreign nations do not like is the constant efforts to deceive them as to the true situation and an impossible system of currency that attempts to make paper good by issuing more paper.

That man who told Judge Maxfield he took one drink and know no more must have used the bottle of the Janesville policeman who also stated he had one drink.

WARREN BACK IN THE OLD OFFICE.

President Warren G. Harding has returned to where they call him "Mr. President" and make appointments in order to see him. He has had a grand holiday back home and been in the printing office of his newspaper and sat at the old desk and written an editorial to the folks who have been taking the Marion Star for a long time. He must have enjoyed the friendly experiences of the office too, where the boys who knew him in his shirt sleeves and his face a little smudged from hanging over the pages at make-up time, called him "Warren" and told the old jokes which get to be fixtures along with the racks and cases and the familiar ad and head letters in every composing room. It was probably comforting to look over all these living as well as inanimate friends.

A newspaper office to the newspaper man is a friendly place. It has a speaking solitude when the machinery is silent and the whole office is at rest for the day. The editor of a newspaper like the Marion Star never has "hours." It is a 24-hour a day job. He is on duty all the time like Old Doc Syphers. So was Warren in these earlier years when he was fighting to make a living from a small town daily. He had been awed when he rode into the city of 4,000, coming from the farm on board a mule of great age and uncertain but surely lagging footsteps. But he soon got beyond that stage and Marion was no longer awe-inspiring and neighborly town. The Star was the community paper. It was the daily

Object Lessons of Industrial War

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN.
 Washington.—"Bloody" Williamson" it is now the county in which the Illinois tragedy of the coal strike occurred. A year ago, or less, it was "Bloody Mingo" or "Bloody Logan"—the West Virginia counties where bloody tragedies were enacted.

Washington officials who are not partisans in this bitter labor fight, but are primarily concerned over the public welfare, believe the time has come to put an end to this bloody business.
 In their opinion, labor and capital have demonstrated conclusively why they should not be permitted to work out their own problems or fight out their own battles without interference from the government or other outside agencies. It is seen that sooner or later industrial violence and the sacrifice of human lives. Inevitably a community or a state is disregarded by some such occurrence as a strike in Massachusetts.

Both parties to industry—organized labor on the one side and the larger employing interests on the other—have opposed vigorously every proposal or measure to do away with strikes and lockouts and their accompanying evils. Each resisted to fear the assertion of a state or federal authority to end and adjust controversies which jeopardize the public interest would minimize the economic power on which each relies.

It is not suggested that either side has wanted to be free to commit murder or lesser outrages on law and order. Neither ever intends to go that far. They merely insist they have a right to settle their own differences in their own way, and at the outset they give every assurance that their methods and measures will be perfectly peaceful.
 They talk much about the folly of attempting to interfere with "the free play of economic forces" and "the natural processes of the law of supply and demand."

Unfortunately, a little conflict, such as the one in the coal industry, is certain to become in the end a life and death struggle. Almost every chapter in the history of such conflicts has its bloody pages—Homestead, Coeur d'Alene, Paterson, Chicago, Colorado, San Francisco, Los Angeles, West Virginia, and now Illinois. The climax is always the same. The lesson is not to be escaped. Left to themselves, labor and capital will fight, to the death, literally as well figuratively, and it is to check this that measures are being considered at the capital.

Not the least significant phase of the Illinois tragedy is the evidence that the union miners and their sympathizers are largely, if not completely in control of the official machinery of Williamson county. This is especially interesting in view of the fact that it is the exact reverse of the situation that has obtained in Mingo county and Logan county. The attorney general of West Virginia, the counties the anti-union coal operators are in the saddle politically and officially, and there has been abundant evidence that they ride just as hard and just as ruthlessly as the union miners in Illinois.

The federal coroner's jury investigation and verdict in the Hertz affair has been condemned generally. There has been much criticism of the apparent failure of the sheriff and other officials there to make any effort to prevent bloodshed, and the impotence of the forces of law and order has been attributed to political domination by the union miners.

There is no disposition on the part of official Washington to withhold condemnation of what transpired in Illinois. There is, however, instead, a disposition to look for the cause of the West Virginia must not be forgotten. In considering more recent events, for example, the Kennedy committee investigation of the West Virginia controversy should not overlook the fact that the anti-union coal operators are in the saddle politically and officially, and there has been abundant evidence that they ride just as hard and just as ruthlessly as the union miners in Illinois.

To date it has been charged that the sheriff or his deputies in Williamson county, Illinois, are paid by the miners' union. In that respect, at least, the miners have not gone far in Illinois as the operators have gone in West Virginia.
 Senators and representatives who are seeking a solution of the strike problem see little but evil in both situations. Indeed, from the public viewpoint it is intolerable that either capital or labor should control the politics of a county or a state and use that power in relentless warfare on the other. Both sides are entitled to the protection of the law, but neither side should be the law.

Carried to its logical conclusion, this sort of thing would mean domination of the nation itself, either by the labor group or by the employing group, and it may be said this is a possibility which cannot be ignored in Washington. It is by no means regarded as a probability, but that such a thing could come to pass is nothing short of a "stop, look and listen" warning to those who believe in the institutions of free government and who are opposed to autocracy, whether of labor or of capital.

At a critical time during the war, when it was vital that munition production should go forward without interruption, it happened that the authority of the government was flouted by a group of workers and by a great corporation almost simultaneously. Some five or six thousand striking munitionists at Bridgeport declined to accept an award of the national war labor board and return to work under the conditions laid down by the board, while the owners of a small arms plant in Massachusetts also refused to abide by a decision of the board and discontinue its practice of discharging employees who had the temerity to join a union.

It was a splendid opportunity to teach both sides a lesson, and it was not overlooked. The president of the United States served notice on the Bridgeport men that they would return to work on the terms prescribed by the national war labor board or they would not be permitted to work anywhere in the United States on war production work and their exemptions from military service would be withdrawn. At the same time the president directed the secretary of war to take over the Massachusetts plant and operate it for the period of the war. After that there was no defiance, either by workers or employers.

Thus it may come about in West Virginia and Illinois that the political power will result in the assertion of the authority of the public as a whole in a manner that will end class rule for all time.

history. Its files told the story of the city, as no chronicler could ever hope to do. Its editor who is now president of these United States, chased over to the mayor's office, wrote up the court house, pursued the elusive society items, wrote the editorials on local improvements and state politics and helped with the makeup when the zero-hour arrived that the paper must be sent to press.

It was in this atmosphere, amid all the new machinery, and apparatus for making a modern newspaper, that the president took a real vacation last week. The people of the city were glad to have Warren back among them when they celebrated the centennial of the establishment of the village there in the level reaches of the Upper Seioia. They were a patriotic people and remembered the "Swamp Fox" of the Revolution, Francis Marion, when they named the settlement.
 It is as a true neighbor and a citizen of no mean community that Warren G. Harding is loved and respected.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

SLEEPER BANDITS
 Sleep was once a gift of mine,
 But they've taken it away.
 Robbed me of my treasure fine,
 Filled me at break of day,
 Stolen in on silent feet,
 Like a plunder-seeking crew.
 And my gift of slumber sweet Taken, just as bandits do.

Long before they came I slept Till the morning sun was high.
 And my drowsy couch I kept,
 Hearing never a passer-by;
 Creaking wagons on the street,
 Shrieking call of man or boy,
 Banging doors or noisy feet
 Slumbers charm could not destroy.

But my precious gift is gone,
 They have stolen it away.
 Furious I'm roused upon
 At the breaking of the day.

I who once could sleep till nine,
 Now am wide-awake at six.
 Pillaged of my treasure fine,
 By outrageous blows and kicks.

On my helpless form they leap—Battering me with chubby fists,
 All in vain the will to sleep

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author

FOR FAT FOLKS.

That was where he overshoot himself.
 It would be unwise to follow any such unphysiological practice. In view of Mr. Fletcher's remarkable sense I can't understand how he ever happened to conceive such a thing.
 But take a tip from Mr. Fletcher.
 Fletcher for folks and folks with alleged indigestion and stomach and liver complaint. His gastro-nomic policy was a great success. As I have told here on a previous occasion, the man himself had wonderful physical endurance while following his own method of eating—he matched and surpassed the best college athletes in gymnasium tests of physical endurance.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

The Stethoscope.
 Can the stethoscope be relied upon in diagnosing diseases of the lungs or heart? Is it possible for one to have heart trouble which may not be detected by the stethoscope? (Miss S. F.)

Answer—The stethoscope conveys by the lungs and heart, and excludes extraneous sounds so that he may concentrate his attention on the character of the sound in the lungs or heart.
 In many diseases of the heart and nearly all diseases of the lungs, the sounds have been found to have characteristic changes, which tell the doctor what is wrong. In some cases the di-agnosis is negative. So one might have very grave heart trouble which could not be detected by the sound alone.

Compulsory Vaccination.
 My daughter will be old enough to enter school this coming term. Is it compulsory to have her vaccinated?
 I know my mother-in-law is taking to prevent having her vaccinated?
 (Mrs. J. A. F.)

Answer—Probably a certificate from your physician will suffice. If there is some good reason why vaccination is not advisable now, for the little girl should have been vaccinated before she was a year old. If she is not vaccinated, she should be vaccinated at the earliest opportunity. Under no circumstances should a child be allowed to enter school without being vaccinated.

CLOSED CARS IN
GREATER DEMANDSedans and Coupes Enjoy 50
Pct. Increase in Popularity Here.

An astounding increase in demand of the public for enclosed automobiles has been noted here the past two years.

The demand for closed models, one dealer here says, was 33 per cent over last year, while all dealers report almost a similar increase. While some cars make more attractive sedans than others, and make more of a specialty of them, all makers nowadays make sedans and coupes. The demand last year increased 50 per cent over that of the year before, and two years ago, the demand for closed cars had just begun to increase.

Six and seven years ago hardly a closed car was to be seen. The demand has increased more than even the dealers or the car-makers had expected, one dealer explained, "and that expectation was high."

Improvements Come Fast.
As the demand increased, improvements were made in enclosed models. First came the elimination of the rattles which was accomplished by making the body wider, and putting anti-rattles on the windows of the more expensive cars. On the cheaper models, the bodies were built heavier and wider, thus adding to the appearance, to the comfort and to the pleasure of riding.

Later window lifters were put in, which made it possible to raise or lower the windows without standing up and tugging at a strap. The door handles were improved in appearance, and in many cars, the inside fitting of metals were finished uniformly with a polish. It has come now to even adding cigarette and match holders and ash containers. This is more of a convenience than it appears to smokers, for smoking in a closed car not fitted with an ash container, without littering the floor.

Equipped with Heaters.
Now many sedans are equipped with heaters. The heat comes from the motor and is great enough to keep the inside of a car comfortable in the coldest weather.

Upolsters have been improved in the newer models, and is now "fit for a king" even in the smaller cars. It is not known where the next improvements can come in the closed car, so completely and beautifully equipped are they now.

WOMEN NOT WANTED
IN POLAND ARMIES

WARSAW.—Women are not wanted in the Polish army by the peasant members of the national parliament. Recently they addressed a protest to the Ministry of War against women volunteers. During the war of 1920, when the Woman's Legion was organized, thousands of women served both as officers and in the ranks.

FIREMEN FOLLOW
OLD ADAGE OF
"EARLY TO BED"

Janesville firemen are firm believers in the old adage "early to bed and early to rise."
The average time for them to "hit the hay" is 9:30. It is unusual to find them up after 10 or 10:30 except in case of a night fire alarm. Some of them retire as early as 7:30, particularly the earliest ones climb the loft between 8 and 8:30.

All are required to be up by 6:30 in the morning. Some arise at 5 a. m., others at 5:30, to go home to breakfast.

Two and four-handed cribbage and solitaire are the chief games played in the fire stations. Card-playing is much more popular in the winter than in the summer. Firemen at No. 1 station especially feel they are pretty fair at cribbage and stand ready to take on the city's best at any time.

Most of the men spend considerable time reading fiction and sport magazines and the daily newspapers make up the most popular literature.

MORGAN ASKS FOR TAX PAYMENTS

Semi Annual Settlements Mean Great Aid to Wisconsin People.

New Richmond.—The semi-annual payment of taxes as a partial relief to Wisconsin taxpayers, was advocated by Attorney General William I. Morgan in a campaign speech here Saturday night.

There is no reason why taxes should not be paid semi-annually, Attorney General Morgan said, explaining that conditions have changed since the state had agriculture for its only industry.

The wage earners, the farmers, the salaried class and the business men will all be accommodated if taxes may pay their taxes at the end of each half-year instead of once a year, he declared.

Under the present system of paying taxes in January, huge sums are accumulated in the state treasury, in the treasuries of various municipalities of the state, months before that money is needed for the ordinary expenses of the government, state and municipal. The money is then placed in state depositories at three per cent interest.

"These state depositories can't handle that kind of an advantage, at less than six per cent interest when it is loaned out. They must furnish bonds and they usually furnish surety bonds upon which they must pay a premium. The banks cannot know from day to day how much they will have to advance so they cannot handle state deposits to advantage unless they charge six per cent."

"Here and there we have banks charging eight or ten per cent and they are the only ones that would be making anything under the present system. I do not believe in continuing a system that benefits only a favored few, that works a hardship on the many."

I propose that the people pay one half of their taxes in January and when they pay one half the tax promptly in January they be given another six months to pay the other half. If the first installment is not paid promptly the whole amount would be due in July and would be paid directly to the county treasurer.

Boy Tourists Arrive in Rockies Without Mishap

Alfred R. Glancy, Clarence Cullver and Robert Barle, the three Janesville youths touring in a Sampson truck to Stockton, Cal., are now in the mountain district and expect to stop at the Grand Canyon of the Colorado next week. They have made the trip across the corn-belt, the prairies and into the mountains over the Santa Fe trail without a mishap.

On the fourth the boys were in Las Vegas, New Mexico, during the rodeo, which they thoroughly enjoyed.

It was at Trinidad they first experienced the mountains. On seeing the great shafts of rocks, they "guessed" the peaks were "four miles" away but found that they were 40 miles distant.

Jack Rabbit Speedy. The letter prepared by Robert Barle, chief navigator follows: "We surely are getting in the west now, Colorado and New Mexico. These states are much more interesting than Illinois, Missouri or the most of Kansas."

"As we got out of Kansas the cotton-tail rabbits seemed to give way to the jack-rabbits with their big long ears and powerful, long rear legs, almost like those of a kangaroo. How they could get over the ground! They just naturally get up and disappear into the next county in three hops and a short jump. The third day in Kansas brought us to the plains. Fences, trees and small farms are not to be found there, rather endless, sagebrush, large herds of Hereford and Shorthorn cattle. Then for a little variety just west of Garden City, there were irrigated ditches. All the waters of the Arkansas river are harnessed and directed into narrow canals."

"Just before we got into Colorado we caught sight of our first prairie dogs. After we had gone through La Junta we saw more of them. The plains are covered with the little mounds of dirt housing the dogs, snakes, gophers, owls and skunks."

Climb Mountains. "Cattle are not the only thing on the plains for near Times Lake we stopped to photograph a shepherd with his dog watching over a flock of 1,500 sheep. The dog was as intelligent as the man, who could speak only Spanish."

around the lake. The Rotary club members and their wives visited camp in the afternoon and stayed for a picnic lunch. Several interesting events were held by the boys to show the visitors some of the games played at camp.

"Friday at dinner six large watermelons appeared on the tables. It looked like a contest with everybody doing his best to finish his slice of melon. In the afternoon, two of the four kites sent to camp by Mr. McKee were taken on a hill by Mr. McKee. They flew like birds only one in landing, landed in the lake and got wet. However, it dried out and is now as good as new."

In the afternoon and evening several games of 'scrap' over the boundary and 'hoola' were played. Any boy here will tell you he is having the time of his life."

CANDIDATES FOR SHERIFF PLENTIFUL There seems to be no dearth of candidates for sheriff in southern Wisconsin counties this year.

Five republicans and one democrat are running for election as sheriff of La Fayette county, no doubt.

WOMEN PREPARING TO GET OUT VOTE

Trip Through Walworth County Shows Activity for G. O. P.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Helms returned Sunday from a three-day motor trip through Walworth county, visiting in Darien, Delavan, Elkhorn, Honey Creek and Lake Geneva. They attended the conference of the republicans of the first district held at Elkhorn court house on Friday, when Mrs. Helms served as secretary of the meeting, and Lawrence Whitte, Edgerton, was nominated as choice of the convention for congressman of the district.

During the trip Mrs. Helms interviewed prominent women in each community on their attitude in regard to the republican ticket nominated at the June convention held in Milwaukee, and found them enthusiastic and eager to work to secure their nomination at the primaries in September.

"I did not find a single woman who was going to vote for the La Follette ticket," said Mrs. Helms, "and those interviewed were chosen at random with no previous knowledge of their views. They said, when questioned, that La Follette's war record didn't take well with women who had sent their boys abroad to fight for the principles of righteousness exemplified by that war, and that they thought it was time that his domination in Wisconsin affairs should cease."

"Everywhere," said Mrs. Helms, "the women are preparing quietly to organize the women of their communities to get out the vote for the primaries. Even in the small towns they seem to realize the importance of the occasion, and are preparing to their bit, in this matter."

"They were strong in their praise of the high type of men whose names were on the ticket," said Mrs. Helms, "and said they believed now is the time for the women to get busy and put this ticket across."

News for Farmers

Farm Bureau Official Information

Jeff County Man Takes Egg Honors

Wisconsin hens are laying more eggs than they did last year. At least that is the case on the 155 poultry demonstrations scattered in all parts of the state.

According to J. E. Hayes, one of the poultrymen at the college of agriculture, over 15,000 hens were enrolled during the month of May in the egg laying contest. Each hen laid an average of 19.59 eggs in May compared to an average of 16.88 eggs for the same month last year. An increase of 2.4 eggs, quite the proud record-breakers.

But look at this accomplishment! The 15 highest layers deposited an average of 22.55 eggs in 31 May days. Farm flocks competing for high egg honors in May averaged 100 birds each.

To E. L. Henning of Jefferson county, and his flock of Single Comb White Leghorns go the highest honors for production during May. The high average of 24.69 eggs per hen brought an undisputed title in the class of record flocks larger than 100 birds.

White Leghorns grabbed the first 10 places in the "big flock" class. Second place went to Mrs. John C. Simon for being the owner of birds that produced an average of 24.39 eggs each. Mrs. Simon is from Langlade county.

Another Langlade county poultryman came in third. The flock of E. Friebe-Koch laid an average of 24.29 eggs each. His birds laid 23.21 eggs each.

Fifth honors were awarded to the flock owned by Gust H. Weber of Dodge county. An average of 22.94 eggs were laid by his hens.

In the second division, including farm flocks ranging in size from 55 to 100 birds, Mrs. Michel Simon, Langlade county, and her flock of Anconas won the blue ribbon for a production record of 24.00 eggs each for an average.

Single Comb Brown Leghorns owned by Math. C. Nuclemans of Brown county came in third for laying 23.93 eggs each.

A mixed flock of Single Comb White Leghorns and Anconas owned by Mrs. John Endres, Marathon county produced an average of 22.81 eggs thereby meriting the fourth position.

Special Farm Prize for So. Wis. Kiddies

Boys and girls from eight southern Wisconsin counties will have the opportunity of competing for $100

of prize money in the lamb raising contest to be staged at the Dane county Fair, August 21 to 25.

According to an announcement made by B. F. Zaffke of the College of Agriculture, competition for the special prizes will be open to all boys and girls in Dane and adjoining counties. This list includes Sauk, Columbia, Dodge, Jefferson, Rock, Green and Iowa counties.

To stimulate boys and girls in the raising of good sheep, one of the banks of Madison has contributed $100. In special prizes for a lamb-raising contest. Seven prizes are offered for the best pen of three grade lambs sired by a purchased lamb and raised and exhibited by a boy or girl under 16 years of age.

The prizes offered are: first prize $25.00, second prize $20.00, third prize $15.00, fourth prize $10.00, fifth prize $10.00, sixth prize $7.00, seventh prize $5.00.

Should more than seven pens worthy of prize money be exhibited the Dane County Fair association will give additional prizes of $3.00 each.

County Agent Worth $12,000 to Grant Co.

Langlade—How much is a county agent worth?

Perhaps Grant county has the answer. In the annual report of the county board the county agent's worth is estimated at $12,000 in a very direct way. And there are many other indirect benefits upon which a money value cannot be placed.

Poultry demonstrations in cutting out the non-laying hens were estimated as worth $2,800 to the farmers who attended the demonstrations. An intensive spraying campaign was waged in the county and as a result six thousand trees were sprayed. The benefit is estimated at least one dollar a tree, or a total of $6,000.

Seventy-five Grant county boys and girls were enlisted in club work and it is estimated that each one produced at least $15. The total benefits from club work were estimated at $1,125. In a liming campaign the soils of 100 farms were tested and the estimated benefits were $10 each for an average.

Single Comb Brown Leghorns owned by Math. C. Nuclemans of Brown county came in third for laying 23.93 eggs each.

A mixed flock of Single Comb White Leghorns and Anconas owned by Mrs. John Endres, Marathon county produced an average of 22.81 eggs thereby meriting the fourth position.

The red ribbon was awarded to E. Friebe-Koch, Langlade county, and owner of the third-prize flock in the first division. His second division Ancona hens laid 24.00 eggs each for an average.

a farm, or a total of $1,000. Miscellaneous benefits were estimated at $1,000. The total estimated benefits from February 1 until November 1, 1921, were estimated at $11,925.

"The dollars and cents value of the county agent will increase, each succeeding year will see the original benefits are multiplied not only on the farm of the person originally helped, but upon other farms nearby," declares the report.

One of the outstanding features of county agent work was the purchase of spray outfits and spray materials. Grant county is now one of the leading fruit producing counties and will continue to increase the output of quality fruit.

311 Pounds of Milk Valued at $83,000

Prairie du Chien—Three hundred eleven pounds of milk is going to be worth $83,000 to Crawford County.

That is the estimate placed upon 311 pounds of milk by M. L. Wright, county agent here. If we could increase the production of each cow in our county 311 pounds of milk a year, that is the value they would bring us."

Cow testing associations point the way for our farmers," declares Wright. "By increasing the production of our cows this small amount we expect to be able to pay our taxes from the increase test, bread and weed, to call out the unprofitable animals is the solution. A cow testing association will do it."

"All this talk about not paying to feed the cow properly is bunk," says Wright. "The right kind of an animal fed properly will enable any farmer to meet his taxes with a smile." He is organizing several cow testing associations in his county this year.

Poultry Breeders Combat Pea Moths

Staron Bay—The pea moth has Wisconsin on its July itinerary. But Door and Kewaunee county pea growers are better prepared than ever before to entertain this pea pest.

Such is the situation as seen by C. L. Pluke of the department of entomology at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, who is helping farmers of this section in their campaign against the pea moth.

The "Pea" entomologist has made extensive investigations for the past three seasons of the life history and means of combating the pea moth. Pluke described the life history of this insect for the first time last year. Actual evidence of its existence has been uncovered for a period extending back 18 years. The earliest reports of infestations were made 30 years ago. The pea moth was reported in Canada in 1905.

An early season and the planting of more early maturing peas is a factor aiding in keeping pea moth damage down in this section, according to Pluke. Some of the recommendations made by the insect specialist as a result of his studies here are: (1) Never plant twice in adjacent or the same field; (2) select best early maturing varieties of peas; (3) plant as early as possible; (4) bury the larvae by deep fall plowing; (5) burn straw after threshing; and (6) destroy peas immediately after harvesting.

"The pea moth winters as a co-

county agent here. If we could increase the production of each cow in our county 311 pounds of milk a year, that is the value they would bring us."

Staron Bay—The pea moth has Wisconsin on its July itinerary. But Door and Kewaunee county pea growers are better prepared than ever before to entertain this pea pest.

Such is the situation as seen by C. L. Pluke of the department of entomology at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, who is helping farmers of this section in their campaign against the pea moth.

The "Pea" entomologist has made extensive investigations for the past three seasons of the life history and means of combating the pea moth. Pluke described the life history of this insect for the first time last year. Actual evidence of its existence has been uncovered for a period extending back 18 years. The earliest reports of infestations were made 30 years ago. The pea moth was reported in Canada in 1905.

An early season and the planting of more early maturing peas is a factor aiding in keeping pea moth damage down in this section, according to Pluke. Some of the recommendations made by the insect specialist as a result of his studies here are: (1) Never plant twice in adjacent or the same field; (2) select best early maturing varieties of peas; (3) plant as early as possible; (4) bury the larvae by deep fall plowing; (5) burn straw after threshing; and (6) destroy peas immediately after harvesting.

"The pea moth winters as a cocoon in the upper inch of soil," says Pluke in describing the life history. "It comes out as a moth in the spring and lays eggs on the pea pods. The larvae then hatch and bore their way through the pods into the peas."

AROMA OF PLANTS KEEPS FOLKS WELL, SAYS INDIAN CHIEF

Menominee Indian Reservation, Neopit, Wis.—Fresh air, in the opinion of an American Chief, living here, is an element of infinitely more properties than the oxygen, nitrogen, carbon dioxide and water vapor of which science has found it composed. The Chief is Reginald Oshkosh, descendant of the famous Chief Oshkosh.

"People say," said Oshkosh explaining his theory, "that fresh air keeps them well, but it is not the air which does so. When a man is ill, he goes to a physician who writes a prescription. The patient takes this, pounds the drug, grinds it up, and when the man takes this prescription his ailment is cured."

"The Indian knows plants, some of which are good for any illness he may have. These plants are used by the white man to make drugs, many of them the same plants which the Indian knows. God has scattered these plants everywhere in the woods and the country, and each one has an aroma. When a man lives outdoors, when he lives in the fresh air, he is taking in, through the air, the aroma of these plants, so that his system absorbs their effects, and they keep him free from ailments, just as the physicians' prescription of the same drugs would cure him. In the air, nature gives him the proper drugs, in time to prevent illness."

lander.5 BUILDINGS NEAR CITY DESTROYED
BY FIRE AND WIND

The top of one barn hay was stored.
It went quickly. Three barns and a chicken and two hog houses, and more than 100 chickens burned. The loss is estimated at $10,000, covered by approximately $2,500 insurance.

Grain Beaten Down

Minor damage from throughout the county was reported. The road done to crops far outside the damage caused by the wind. The house of Edward Hammel, at Atton from destruction Sunday night. Lightning struck the house, was carried through the roof to the basement, shattered the electric light meter and tore a big hole in the wall where it went into the ground.Severe damage was caused to the standing grain by the heavy wind and rain Sunday and Monday morning. Fields were swept down and in places lay flat on the ground. Most of the grain was ready for harvesting.Around Milton and in Porter township the damage was especially noticeable, patches across wide being down.

Wire Service Crippled

The wind storm was the cause of constant trouble to the Janesville Electric company, Wisconsin Telephone company and Janesville Traction company whose service was interrupted on several occasions. The velocity of the wind was estimated by William Schmidley, manager of the Janesville Electric company at between 40 and 60 miles an hour.The Milton line of the electric company was still out Monday morning with a tree limb across the wire near Milton. The switchboard at Milton was burnt out when lightning went through it at At. Ordville.Trouble was experienced with the city in darkness for a few minutes.
Throughout the city here 12 transformers supplying from 30 to 50 customers each, were knocked out with limbs of trees being the principal cause. Service in the vicinity of Milton avenue was out for an hour at noon when a large limb broke the service at Glen and Fifth avenue.

Traction Cable Down

The large cable which carries the power through the Janesville Traction company on South Franklin street was brought down when a tree at the corner of Franklin and Pleasant streets was blown down. The cable knocked out several lines of the electric company.Telephone service was greatly affected by the wind and rain and much trouble was yet to be expected at noon Monday. Many lines on the outskirts of Janesville were out of order and long distance service was weak.The great dust clouds raised through the heavy traffic which opposed with the Fourth holidays have been settled by the heavy rain. The rain Friday was absorbed by the ground as though it were a sponge.A storm Sunday afternoon struck the barn on the farm owned by Charles Johnson, east of Janesville. Johnson was milking at the time. The bolt knocked down Johnson and four cows, stunning them for several moments. No serious injury was caused to either Mr. Johnson or the animals. The barn did not catch fire.THE CHARM OF

"MAGIC CIRCLE" IS NEW TRAFFIC SAFETY DEVICE

A new system of reducing accidents at business street intersections has been declared successful by the Los Angeles police department. The "magic circle" consists of a large elevated circle in the center of the crossing so arranged that motorists must slow down in order to get around it.
The width of the circle prevents collisions from misjudgment of distance, while the slow speed of the cars enables all drivers to keep their machines under control while making the crossing.
In the center is a high tower, lighted at night, with road direction indicators.

STEAMER TOWS DISABLED OCEAN SHIP 2,000 MILES

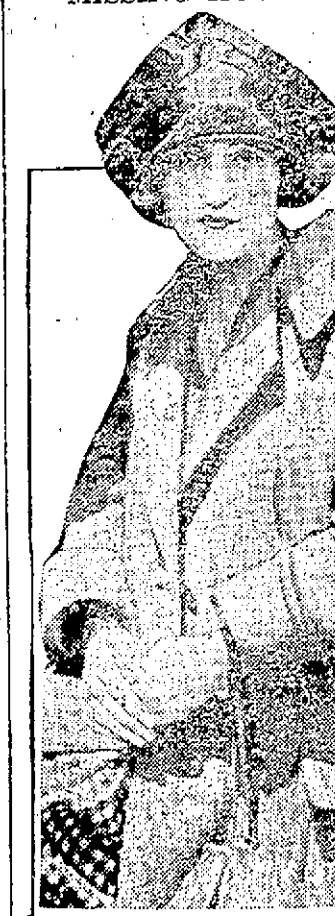

American S. S. Ala, towing the disabled Eastern Dawn in North Atlantic, photographed from a passing ship.

The towing feat of Capt. H. H.
Boye and the crew of the American S. S. Ala is the talk of shipping circles. Finding the
S. S. Eastern Star disabled, 700 miles off the Irish coast, Boye towed the ship for twelve days and delivered it safely in Bal-more harbor. It was a 2,000-mile tow. During the trip the ships were buffeted by storms repeatedly, but the line held and port was reached at last. The crew of the Ala are hoping for a salvage reward.

STATE MATTERS WAIT; DIPLOMATS SMOKE

Premiers Lloyd George of England and Poincare of France, surrounded by members of British cabinet.

Even weighty things like state matters, international affairs and such must wait these days while diplomats and statesmen enjoy

Poincare of France visited Pre-

American business men they had lunch, after which, over their cigars, they discussed affairs of state.FORECAST OF FALL

BEAUTY CHATS by Edna Kent Forbes

DAINTY SURROUNDINGS.

I think I have told before in this column the story of the woman who was really very lovely but who gave everyone the impression that she was beautiful because she surrounded herself with beautiful objects and made her person, her clothes and her home exquisitely dainty. She was not really so dainty, but she was so clever. What she did any woman can do.

Like Mrs. X, every woman wants to seem beautiful. Mrs. X felt that she was somewhat colorless, having drab hair and small light eyes, so she introduced color into her home. She had walls done in pale yellow and against their plainness she put cheery and distinctive looking cretonnes. Where furniture was hopelessly heavy, cumbersome and ugly, she used bright, dainty, and light-colored things.

J. L. T. W.—Rosy cheeks depend upon so many things it is impossible to give a formula that would help you attain them. Often when the skin lacks color it is because of too little oxygen in the blood, and deeper breathing, or more exercise that induces deep breathing, will correct the trouble.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON.
Letters May Be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a daughter who is 24 years old. She is a very pretty girl and has had a good many suitors ever since she was 17. At present she is receiving attention from two young men who seem to be very serious. One is a fine young man of 27 and is very active in the church. She does not like him nearly so well as the other, but I much prefer him.

The other makes more money than the first, but he does not seem so good to me. He does not go to church and he smokes cigars. My daughter loves him so much that I am afraid she will marry him if she has a chance, which I am sure she will have.

Can I do to make her choose the young man I admire? I feel it would be so much better for her with him if he does not earn as much as the other.

MRS. M. B. D.

Do not interfere in your daughter's choice of a husband. She is old enough to know her own heart and mind. Even if the first young man is every way, if your daughter and he are not congenial, their marriage would be unhappy.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 16 years old and have a girl friend who is 15. The girl friend invited me to her house one Sunday night because her boy friend and another boy were coming. I told her I would be very glad to go and I really was.

Sunday afternoon some friends of mothers came over and invited me to go automobile riding. We went to another friend's house in the country and were invited to stay for supper there. The people who had taken us said they would stay and of course there was nothing for mother and me to do but stay too. We didn't get home until it was too late to go to the girl's house. Now she is very angry at me. What can I do to make her realize it was not my fault?

BILLY.

If you have explained and told the girl you were sorry not to keep your word with her, there is nothing else to be done. I think she will get over her unpleasant feeling in two or three weeks and you can be as good friends as ever. Speak to her as if nothing had happened.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I had a wart on my hand and I used nitric acid to remove it. The acid ran down my finger and burned it badly. I thought the wart would never heal because it burned so deeply. When it did heal the wart was gone, though.

Now I have another wart. What would you advise me to use to get rid of it? I should hate to be burned so badly again.

THANK YOU.

The greatest care should be used when applying nitric acid to a wart so that the acid only touches the wart. It should be put on in small quantities with a toothpick or match. It is true that the tender skin around the wart is badly burned by the acid if it is put on in so large a quantity that it runs off in a stream.

One of the readers of this column wrote me about removing a wart by means of a piece of chalk. She kept it handy and applied it several times a day. You might try her method.

Be sure to call for your free tube

By merely filling out the coupon in this advertisement and taking it to any one of the druggists listed below you may receive a full-sized 10-cent tube of Listerine Tooth Paste—a very superior dentifrice made for you by the makers of Listerine.

It makes tooth-brushing a pleasure

Give this original fruit acid dentifrice a thorough, conscientious trial. Note what a clean, fresh feeling it leaves about the mouth and teeth. And see how much brighter and whiter your teeth will gleam than they ever did before.

"It makes your mouth water"

When you brush your teeth with Listerine Tooth Paste you will at once notice how it makes your mouth water. This is because it contains the wholesome acid elements of four delicious fruits—apple, orange, grapes and grapefruit.

These mild fruit acids stimulate an extra flow of tooth-protecting alkaline saliva which Nature provides to fight conditions that start tooth decay.

Soapy dentifrices cannot do this, because they are necessarily alkaline instead of acid. They discourage Nature in her effort to preserve tooth-health and lead you to unnecessary discomfort, unsightly teeth and needless dental bills.

And a safe cleansing agent

Besides its mild fruit acids together with the healing oils that have made Listerine itself so popular and safe an antiseptic for the last half century, Listerine Tooth Paste contains exactly the correct polishing ingredient. It is a non-gritty cleanser—just hard enough to remove the daily accumulations of tartar; but not so hard as to injure the tooth enamel. You know this paste is doing its work—yet doing it safely.

Redeem your coupon this week!

Be sure to hand your druggist the coupon below this week. This offer is in effect only one week.

Secure your free full-sized 10-cent tube and enjoy the pleasure and satisfaction of really clean teeth—teeth made clean both scientifically and safely.

At the Villa Rose

BY A. E. W. MASON

SYNOPSIS OF VILLA ROSE: "I won't! I won't!" she whispered pleadingly. Her spirit was broken by the horrors of the night's adventure. She lay back and cried quietly in the darkness of the carriage. The car dashed through Anney. It seemed incredible to Cello that it was she who had been dining with Mrs. Dauvey and the woman opposite, who was now her jailer, Mrs. Dauvey lay dead in the little salon, and herself—she dared not think what lay in front of her. She was so persuaded—that was the word—to tell what she did not know.

Meanwhile her name would be exonerated through Aix as the murderer of the woman who had served her. Then suddenly the car stopped and there were lights outside. Cello heard voices. A man was speaking to Wethermill. She started and saw Adele face's arm flash upward. She sank back in terror, and the car rolled on in the darkness. Adele drew a breath of relief. The one point of danger had been passed. They had passed the Pont de la Caille, they were in Switzerland.

So long as the car rolled, the car slackened its speed. By the side of it Cello heard the sound of wheels and of the hoofs of a horse. A single horse, closed landau had been caught up as it jogged along the road. The driver, a man in a dark coat, was it of the driver reined his horse. Wethermill jumped from the chauffeur's seat, opened the door of the landau, and then put his head in it.

"Are you ready?" he asked. "Not a word, remember!" Wethermill flung open the door of the car. Adele took the girl's feet, and she stepped out of the car. Then she pushed her out. Wethermill caught her in his arms and carried her to the landau. Cello dared not cry out. Her hands were helpless, her face at the mercy of that grim flash. Just ahead of them the lights of Geneva were visible, and from the lights a silver radiance overspread a patch of sky. Wethermill placed her in the landau. Adele began to work her hands behind her. She was a doctor, no more, no success was obtained. She had been too cunningly tied. And then Mrs. Rossignol touched a button at her side in the leather of the carriage.

The touch turned on a tiny lamp in the roof of the carriage, and she raised a warning hand to Cello. "Now keep very quiet!" Flight through the empty streets of Geneva, the landau was quickly driven. Adele had peeped from time to time under the blind. There were few people in the streets. Once or twice a sergeant-de-ville was seen under a light of lamp. Cello dared not cry out. Over against her, persistently watching her, Adele Rossignol sat with the open flask clutched in her hand, and from the overwhelming terror she carried out from the town along the western edge of the lake.

"Now listen," said Adele. "As soon as the landau stops, the door of the house opposite to which it stops will open. I shall open the carriage door myself and you will get out. You must stand close by the carriage door until I have got out. I shall hold the flask ready in my hand. As soon as I am out you will run across the pavement into the house. You won't speak or scream."

Ten minutes later the carriage passed down the little street and attracted Mrs. Gobi's notice. Mrs. Gobi had lit no light in her room. Adele Rossignol peered out of the carriage. She saw the house in darkness. She could not see the busy body's face watching the landau from a dark window. She cut the cords which fastened the girl's hands.

The carriage stopped. She opened the door. Cello sprang out onto the pavement. She sprang so quickly that Adele Rossignol caught and held the train of her dress. But it was the fear of the vitriol which had made her spring so lightly and quickly into the house.

The old woman who acted as servant, Jeanne Tard, received her. Cello offered no resistance. The fear of vitriol had made her supple as a glove. Jeanne hurried her down the stairs into the little parlor at the back of the house. She was pale and pushed her into a chair. Cello let her arms fall forward on the table. She had no hope now.

Listen, World!

By Elsie Robinson

Miss Gladys Graham is back from college with an A. B. tucked on her name and the wisdom of the Ages tucked in her beauty case. And Gladys is working overtime telling folks where they can head in. There's Maw Graham, for instance. Maw's a sort of human parent, Grubby and ordinary folks and kindness to the human race but retaining no more social recognition than the aforementioned vegetable. Maw did wonders to send Gladys through college. "Work around almost every day without real pitiful little pleasures, so 'her girl' could have a chance. And now Gladys is analyzing Mother Love for Maw, such thing as unselfishness," says Gladys. "Mothers don't really sacrifice for their children. They act that way because it gives them pleasure. There's selfishness and self-interest back of all human love. Love itself is a selfish instinct."

Maw listens and the tears blur her faded old eyes. She's no hand for arguing, is Maw Graham, but somehow she thinks that Gladys doesn't understand. Gladys doesn't. She knows a few scraps of things out of books, but she has learned nothing from human hearts where the real wisdom of the world is kept. It's quite easy to take human motives apart and find the selfishness within them, but while you are doing it the essential truth will even slip from you.

What if Maw Graham's devotion

THE JUMPING EGG
Have two glasses in one of which an egg is placed, taking care they are so small that the egg will fit only about half way in the glass and that the bottom of the egg does not rest on the bottom of the glass. Place the two glasses side by side, so that the rims will touch, and the egg can be made to hop from one glass into the other, simply by blowing sharply on one side of the egg. Repeat this and it will hop back into the original retainer.

A good deal of care is required lest the egg hop on the table, which might result disastrously, as eggs have a peculiar habit of breaking when hitting a hard surface.

CLOSED CARS IN
GREATER DEMANDSedans and Coupes Enjoy 50
Pct. Increase in Popularity Here.

An astounding increase in demand of the public for enclosed automobiles has been noted here the past two years.

The demand for closed models, one dealer here says, was 32 per cent over last year, while all dealers report almost a similar increase. While some cars make more attractive sedans than others, and make more of a specialty of them, all makers nowadays make sedans and coupes. The demand last year increased 20 per cent over that of the year before, and two years ago, the demand for closed cars had just begun to increase. Six and seven years ago hardly a closed car was to be seen.

"The demand has increased more than even the dealers or the car-makers had expected," one dealer explained, "and that expectation was high."

Improvements Come Fast
As the demand increased, improvements were made in enclosed models. First came the elimination of the rattles which was accomplished by making the body wider, and putting anti-rattles on the windows of the more expensive cars. On the cheaper models, the bodies were built heavier and wider, thus adding to the appearance, to the comfort and to the pleasure of riding.

Later window lifters were put in, which made it possible to raise or lower the windows without standing up and turning at a strap. The door handles were improved in appearance, and in many cars, the inside fitting of metals were all finished uniformly with a polish. It has come now to even adding cigarette and match holders and ash containers. This is more of a convenience than it appears to smokers, for when it is almost impossible to smoke in a closed car not fitted with an ash container, without littering the floor.

Now many sedans are equipped with heaters. The heat comes from the motor and is great enough to keep the inside of a car comfortable in the coldest weather.

Upholstery has been improved in the newer models, and is now "a lot a king" even in the smaller cars. It is not known where the next improvements can come in the closed car, so completely and beautifully equipped are they now.

IN POLAND ARMIES

Warsaw.—Women are not wanted in the Polish army by the peasant members of the national parliament. Recently they addressed a protest to the Ministry of War against women volunteers. During the war of 1920, when the Women's Legion was organized, thousands of women served both as officers and in the ranks.

OLD ADAGE OF
"EARLY TO BED"

Janesville firemen are firm believers in the old adage "early to bed and early to rise."

The average time for them to "hit the hay" is 9:30. It is unusual to find them up after 10 or 10:30 except in case of a night fire alarm.

Some of them retire as early as 7:30, particularly in winter. In the summer the earliest ones climb the ladder between 8 and 8:30.

All are required to be up by 6:30 in the morning. Some arise at 5 a. m., others at 5:30, to go home to breakfast.

Two- and four-handed cribbage and solitaire are the chief games played in the fire stations. Card-playing is much more popular in the winter than in the summer.

Firemen at No. 1 station especially feel they are pretty fair at cribbage and solitaire, ready to take on the city's best at any time.

Most of the men spend considerable time reading fiction and sport magazines and the daily newspapers.

make up the most popular literature.

Semi Annual Settlements Mean Great Aid to Wisconsin People.

New Richmond—The semi-annual payment of taxes as a partial relief to Wisconsin taxpayers, was advocated by Attorney General William J. Morgan in a campaign speech here Saturday night.

"There is no reason why taxes should not be paid semi-annually," Attorney General Morgan said, explaining that conditions had changed since the state had agriculture for its only industry.

"The wage earners, the farmers, the salaried class and the business men will all be accommodated if they may pay their taxes at the end of each half year instead of once a year," he declared.

"Under the present system of paying taxes in January, huge sums are accumulated in the state treasury, in the treasuries of various municipalities, of the state and of the ordinary expenses of the government."

"The money is then placed in state depositories at three per cent interest, and the state depositories can't handle that kind of any advantage at less than six per cent interest when it is loaned out. They must furnish bonds and they really furnish bonds upon which they must pay a premium. The banks cannot know from day to day when that money will be overdrawn so that they cannot handle state deposits unless they charge six per cent."

"Here and there we have banks charging eight or ten per cent and they are the only ones that would be making anything under the present system. I do not believe in continuing a system that works a hardship on the many."

"I propose that the people pay one half of their taxes in January and when they pay one half the tax promptly in January they be given another six months to pay the other half. If the first installment is not paid promptly the whole amount would be due in July and would be paid directly to the county treasurer."

Boys Have Time of Their Lives at Rotardale

Boys now at Rotardale, camp are having "the time of their lives," Reporter Fred Hyslop, one of the tent leaders, says. In a recent letter he reports:

"Monday the boys arrived for the second period of camp. There were 41 boys, seven more than came for the first period. A new tent was put up to accommodate these. Everything worked hard and all were ready to turn in when taps blew."

"Tuesday the boys became used to the camp life. Several fellows traveled after the 'sky hook,' the rubber crow-bar, and other similar articles. In the evening, fireworks were enjoyed, many of the boys having brought some with them."

"Wednesday was marked by the appearance in the evening of the Daily Nuisance, the camp paper, which is read every evening around the camp-fire."

"Thursday a hike was taken

Boy Tourists Arrive in Rockies Without Mishap

Alfred R. Gandy, Clarence Culver and Robert Earle, the three Janesville youths going in a Sanborn truck to Stockton, Cal., are now in the mountain district and expect to stop at the Grand Canyon of the Colorado next week. They have made the trip across the mountains over the Santa Fe trail without a mishap.

On the fourth the boys were in Las Vegas, New Mexico, during the route, which they thoroughly enjoyed.

It was at Trinidad they first experienced the mountains. On seeing the great shafts of rocks, "towering" the peaks were "four miles" away but found that they were 40 miles distant.

Jack Rabbits Speed. The letter prepared by Robert Earle, chief navigator, follows: "We surely are getting in the west now, Colorado and New Mexico. These states are much more interesting than Illinois, Missouri or the most of Kansas."

"As we got out of Kansas, the cotton-tail rabbits seemed to give way to the jack-rabbits with their long ears and powerful legs. They were almost like those of a kangaroo. How they could get over the ground! They just naturally get up and disappear into the next county in three hops and a bound."

The third day, in Kansas, brought us to the plains. Fences, trees and small farms are not to be found there, rather cactus, sagebrush, large herds of Hereford and Southern cattle. Five for a little there were irrigating ditches. All the waters of the Arkansas river are harnessed and directed into narrow canals.

"Just before we got into Colorado we caught sight of our first prairie dogs. After we had gone through La Junta we saw more of them. The plains are covered with little mounds of dirt housing the dogs, snakes, gophers, owls and skunks."

Climb Mountains. "Cattle are not the only thing on the plains for near Timpano Cole we stopped to photograph a shepherd with his dog watching over a flock of 1,800 sheep. The dog was as intelligent as the man, who could speak only Spanish."

around the lake. The Rotary club members and their wives visited camp in the afternoon and stayed for a picnic lunch. Several contests were held by the boys to show the visitors some of the games played at camp.

"Friday at dinner six large watermelons appeared on the tables. It looked like a contest with everybody doing his best to finish his slice of melon. In the afternoon, two of the four kids sent to camp by Mr. McKee were taken on a hill and flown. They flew like birds only one in landing, landed in the lake and got wet. However, it dried out and is now as good as new."

"In the afternoon and evening several games of 'seely' over the boundary and 'headle' were played. Any boy here will tell you he is having the time of his life."

CANDIDATES FOR SHERIFF PLENTIFUL. There seems to be no dearth of candidates for sheriff in southern Wisconsin counties this year. Five republicans and one democrat are running for election as sheriff of La Fayette county, according to official announcements to date. The democrats are Phil Parkinson. The republicans are James W. Metcalf, Denton, Albert Becumont, Raymond, Lincoln J. Bryson and George Watson. Darlington, and Ole Olson. South Wayne, Louis Boll, Darlington, is opposed for reelection as county treasurer by Glenn J. Swenson. In Green county there are five candidates and in Dane county eight candidates for sheriff.
